WE WILL REMEMBER THEM...

A record of those who lost their lives during the First World War 1914-18 and are commemorated in the London Borough of Hillingdon

*They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old:
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.*

Foreword from The Leader of Hillingdon Council, Ray Puddifoot MBE

The centenary of the outbreak of the First World War, 4 August 2014, provides a unique opportunity to commemorate this 'War to end all Wars', which was to have such far-reaching consequences in Britain, across Europe and beyond.

It is often said that there was hardly a family unaffected by this Great War, and it has been a poignant process charting the loss of life amongst the young men in the Borough of Hillingdon, and following some of the individual stories of heroism which took place in often quite unspeakable conditions.

By taking as a starting point the names on all the memorials to the fallen of that War which are located in the towns and churches of this borough, and adding as much information as can be gleaned from official records and works of local history, a gazetteer of the soldiers, their ranks, medals, regiments and date and place of death has been put together.

We hope that We will remember them will help readers of all ages to appreciate the contribution towards peace and democracy made by the people who lived here a hundred years ago and that it will bring recognition to the sacrifices they made.

Introduction

The task of compiling a book such as this is not straightforward. The sheer geographical scale of the War, mainly on land, but also at sea and in the air, the huge numbers of casualties, and the lack of either the means or the technology to record information at the time, has meant that records are often patchy, and can also be confused or incorrect.

The practice of marking and documenting war graves, standardising headstones for all ranks and ensuring that soldiers were buried alongside their comrades rather than being brought home, began with the work of an officer in the Red Cross. In March 1915, this work was given formal recognition as the Graves Registration Commission, now the Commonwealth War Graves Commission, which is today responsible for some 1.7 million war graves and memorials world-wide.

A local historian, Tanya Britton, has spent many years matching these official records against schools, newspapers and other records of those who lived in the borough at the time, and through this work has managed to piece together the details of most of those who served in the Great War. There are still some uncertainties regarding identity, and these have been recorded as such. Mistakes have also been found in some of the details in the official records, and these have been rectified in brackets alongside the entry.

As a basis for this book, all the names have been recorded, exactly as engraved, from all the war memorials in the borough commemorating the First World War. Where there is duplication, usually when men have been commemorated on both their town and their church memorials, these entries have been cross referenced. However some people are known to have been omitted from local memorials, for example when widows moved away from the area in the years before the memorials were erected, whilst others who have been commemorated have not been possible to trace, probably because they grew up outside the borough. Also, at times there is confusion over spellings or initials, which is understandable at a time when boys were often named after their fathers, yet known by a different name altogether.

Finally, the cemetery or battlefield memorial in the right hand column gives a close indication of where the soldiers died. The graveyards were dug close to the battlefields, and the huge memorials such as Thiepval (Somme), Tyne Cot (Passchendaele) and Menin Gate (Ypres) display the names of those for whom there are no known graves.

If you know of someone who you think has been incorrectly recorded or who is missing from the record altogether, do let us know the details by visiting www.hillingdon.gov.uk/history so that we can update our own records and ensure that their name is not forgotten.

Percy Scudder

Percy was the son of Albert and Ada Scudder of Bedfont, who lived on the Bath Road, Cranford. He had a successful career as an instructor of recruits for the Royal Marine Light Infantry but had requested to go out to the front lines with the men he had trained. He was promoted Acting Sergeant in August 1916.

A few days before returning home for training as an officer he was gassed by a stove fire in a dug out and died shortly after, in March 1918, aged 21. His brother Albert was wounded in April 1916 but survived.

Tone Hippolyte Bayetto

Tone was the son of Hippolyte and Rosalie Bayetto of the Old House, Lime Grove, Eastcote. He was educated in Battersea and then went to India as an engineer, returning before war was declared. He learnt to fly at Hendon in 1913. He enlisted in the Royal Flying Corps 1915 and by 1917 had been promoted to Captain. He had been wounded in 1917 and had destroyed an enemy aircraft. He died in an accident, 'a fall whilst flying in an aeroplane', while based at Beaulieu, Hants.

Alfred and John Miles

Alfred Miles was born in Harefield in 1900, the son of Robert Miles of Mount Pleasant. He was a Private in the 10th Tank Corps and was killed on 25 March 1918 in action at Logeast Wood near Grevillers, France. Only two of the seven tanks involved survived the action. He has no known grave but is commemorated on the Arras Memorial. His brother, John Robert, had served in the navy for over five years and been discharged at the end of his time. He re-enlisted in 1915 into the Middlesex Regiment. He was wounded twice in 1916 and suffered from shellshock. He was killed in the battle of Lens on 16 August 1917 'whilst attempting to save the life of a comrade'. He too has no known grave but is commemorated on the Tyne Cot Memorial in Belgium though not in Harefield.

Percy and George Lamb

Percy (left) and George (right) were the sons of Eldred and Mary Jane Lamb, born in 1894 and 1887 respectively. Percy and his father both worked at the Asbestos Works, Harefield. George had been a gardener. Percy enlisted at Uxbridge in September 1914. Prior to 1917, he had already been wounded six times, the first time on his 21st birthday. He was awarded the Military Medal in 1917 for taking a German trench and holding it for 39 hours, causing the enemy heavy casualties. He was 'wiring out' when he was killed by a shell in September 1917. George was later killed in action in May 1918, aged 31. He was a stretcher bearer and was carrying in severely wounded men when he was hit.

George, James and William Gibbs

Three out of the four sons of James and Rosina Gibbs of Dawley were killed during the First World War. George was killed in 1917, aged 23, in action at the Third Battle of Ypres, serving in one of the 12 regiments on the attack on the Gheluvelt Plateau. James and William were killed one month apart, William from wounds sustained in an important advance toward Cambrai in September 1918 and James, during an attack on enemy positions around St. Aubert in October 1918.

Arthur and Charles Levett

Arthur and Charles had been born in Harlington, the sons of Walter Levett of Bath Road. Arthur had enlisted in August 1914. In April 1916 he was killed instantly when he was shot in the head by a sniper machine gun near Vermelles. He was the only man in his unit to die that day. Charles had emigrated to Australia in early 1914. He enlisted in Sydney in September 1915. In July 1916 his unit was engaged in fierce fighting near Pozieres. He was going back to the front line carrying a bag of bombs on his back when one of the bombs exploded, killing him instantly.

Frederick and George Underwood

Frederick and George were sons of Frederick and Charlotte Underwood of Sipson. Frederick was killed in October 1917 after his battalion took part in the Battle of Broodseinde (part of the Third Battle of Ypres). It was a successful attack to capture the Gheluvelt Plateau, which gave the British a dominant position overlooking the Reutal valley. George survived the war and returned home, but died from influenza and pneumonia in March 1919 during demobilisation in France.

Frederick A Hewens

Frederick, born in 1896, was the only son of a long established Hayes family. His father, Alfred, ran the family engineering business. After leaving Uxbridge County School, Frederick won a scholarship to the Regent Street Polytechnic to study engineering. He was refused permission to enlist whilst his father was still alive so joined the day after his father's funeral on 29 December 1915. He served in the Honourable Artillery Company and transferred to the Royal Flying Corps in April 1917, becoming an instructor. He died from burns following an air accident whilst teaching a recruit on 16 July 1918.

Hon Charles Thomas Mills

The Hon Charles Thomas Mills was the MP for the Uxbridge Division of Middlesex, and the youngest Member of Parliament at that time (1910-1912), having been elected aged 22. He was the eldest son of Lord Charles William Mills, the second Baron of Hillingdon and was the sixth MP to fall in the war. He had enlisted at Uxbridge in August 1914 and went to France in June 1915. He died whilst in command, setting his men "a splendid example", his trench having been heavily bombarded for two days.

James Jerome and George Rodolph Fane De Salis

Jerome (left) and George (far left), born in 1896 and 1898, were the third and fifth sons of the seven sons of Sir Cecil Fane De Salis, K.C.B. High Sheriff of Middlesex and Chairman of Uxbridge County School which would later become Bishopshalt School. Both boys had attended Uxbridge County School and Jerome was training to be a civil engineer. Jerome was promoted to Lieutenant shortly before his death in October 1915, aged 19. George was commissioned to Second Lieutenant in March 1917 and was killed in June 1917, also aged 19, only three weeks after having joined his regiment. Their eldest brother, Henry, an officer in the Special Reserve, had been killed in a riding accident in 1913.

Arthur and Reginald Lakeman

Arthur (far left) and Reginald (left), known as Rex, were the only children of William and his second wife Elizabeth Lakeman. The boys were born only a year apart, in 1895 and 1896. Arthur had served in France since September 1915. In September 1916 he was involved in the Battle of the Somme, and was wounded near Leuze Wood. He stayed with his machine gun until he was killed. Reginald did not arrive in France until October 1916 and was invalided home with trench foot in 1917. His father had died on 1 September 1918 and on returning home from the funeral he received orders to return to France where he was killed on the 3 October at Ramicourt. Arthur had been a clerk in an explosives factory, Rex was training to be a dentist. They were both members of the Providence Congregational Church.

H.M.S. Aboukir

Joseph Dickens

Joseph had lived in Ickenham, near the Soldier's Return public house and had attended Ickenham School. He joined the navy and was a stoker on board H.M.S. Aboukir which was torpedoed and sunk on 25 September 1914 by the U-9. He was picked up by H.M.S. Hogue, which was then also sunk, then by H.M.S. Cressy which was also sunk. After three hours in the water he was picked up by a fishing trawler. After recovering he was assigned to another destroyer which was sunk by the U9. His health was destroyed and he died a few months later in a Ventnor Sanatorium on the Isle of Wight.

Hubert A Cram and Harry P Boreham

Hubert Cram and Harry Boreham were friends, who together organised the Church Lads Brigade and Junior Corps attached to Emmanuel Church, Northwood. Hubert was born in Eastcote, went to University College London then became a clerk in the Stock Exchange. Harry was born in Pinner and educated at John Lyon School, Harrow before working at the chief accountant's office at Euston station. They both enlisted at the outbreak of War. Hubert was promoted to Corporal in the Royal Fusiliers in December 1914, then to Sergeant by 1917 and 2nd Lieutenant in March 1917. Harry enlisted in the Queen's Victoria Rifles before being promoted to Corporal in 1915. He was serving as Lieutenant in the Middlesex Regiment at the time of his death.

Both men died on the same day, 16 April 1918, in different locations. Hubert was sent with other officers and ranks to make up a Composite Battalion for an attack on the Crucifix where he was killed by machine gun fire. Harry was killed in the Battle of Lys whilst leading his men in a counter attack on the Meteren-Wytschaete front.

Ernest and Reginald Puddefoot

Ernest (pictured left) and Reginald were the two eldest of the four sons of Henry and Anne Puddefoot of Hallowell Road, Northwood, born in 1894 and 1896. Ernest joined the navy straight from school, serving on HMS Vanguard before transferring to the submarine service. On 31 January 1918 his submarine, the K4, was cut in half by one submarine and run over by another, killing all the crew. He had married in 1916 and his only daughter was born after his death. Reginald was in the army and was killed in action in Flanders on 6 April 1918. In August 1917 he had been awarded the DCM for leading his platoon even though shot through the thigh.

Arnold Fairbairns

Arnold was the youngest son of Mr and Mrs W.H Fairbairns of Radlett, Herts, and the husband of Ethel Fletcher of Enfield, with whom he had one son. He lived in Murray Road, Northwood. He had enlisted in 1916 in the Bedfordshire Regiment, was then commissioned into the Yorkshire Regiment and later attached to the Duke of Wellington's regiment. After extricating his company from a very critical position, Captain Fairbairns was killed in October 1918 whilst carrying a wounded man from another regiment, after hearing his cries for help. He was mentioned in Dispatches.

R Henry C Abercrombie

Robert was the only son of Chester and Ada Abercrombie of Ashberrie, Ruislip. His family had moved to Eastcote in 1896 then to Ruislip in 1912. He was a member of the Ruislip Rifle Club and the North West Middlesex League, shooting in various competitions, including with the Middlesex Twenty for the Queen Alexandra Cup in 1913. He joined the army as a Private in October 1914 before being promoted to Corporal in November and Sergeant in December of the same year. He was killed whilst in command, all the senior officers having been killed or wounded, in May 1915, a month before his 25th birthday. He had been giving a wounded comrade a drink of water.

Cecil M Sankey

Cecil Martin Sankey, was the only son of Major and Mrs W. Sankey, of Ealing. He was educated at Westminster School, and then Sandhurst where he reached the rank of Sergeant in 1916. In January 1917 he was awarded the Military Cross for conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty whilst leading his men against the enemy at the battle of Loos. He then transferred to the RAF, qualifying as a pilot. He was killed two weeks later, in a flying accident at RAF Northolt, aged 21.

Walter Ernest White and William George White

Ernest (above left) and George (above right), as they were known were two of the five sons of Samuel and Emily White, of Uxbridge, who had emigrated to Canada before the War. During the War, four of the sons enlisted to fight for the Canadian forces. Ernest and George fought in the same regiment – the Canadian Machine Gun Corps, George as Corporal, aged 33 at his death and Ernest a Private – aged 20. The two brothers were killed by the same shell at Vimy Ridge on 11 April 1917. Their two brothers, Bert (Hubert Samuel) and Harry (John Henry) survived the War, Bert being granted Compassionate Discharge in 1917 after the death of his brothers. The fifth and youngest son was killed in the Second World War.

George Torrington

George, the son of Councillor Walter T.W Torrington of 13 Horton Road, Yiewsley, had enlisted in 1915. He was awarded the MM for conspicuous bravery in the field in 1917 and had been twice mentioned in Despatches. In early 1918, whilst riding a bicycle, he was wounded by being kicked in the head by a horse. In July George had volunteered to help out a comrade who had fallen down a well. On the way back up, the rope broke and he fell, fracturing his spine. After four weeks in hospital with his mother by his side, George died aged 20.
